AISC Communique – 25 February 2020 meeting

The 30th meeting of the Australian Industry and Skills Committee (the Committee) was held on 25 February 2020 in Melbourne.

Emeritus Professor Tracey Horton announced Mr Adam Luckhurst's retirement and thanked him for his support and assistance when she commenced in her new role. Professor Horton welcomed Ms Rachel Livingston, the new Assistant Secretary for the Industry Advice Branch who is expected to commence in April 2020, and the interim Assistant Secretary, Mr Adam Weiderman.

AISC Terms of Reference

The Committee discussed its functions under its Terms of Reference and recommitted to the need for the Committee to support policy in the VET sector in addition to its role in approving Training Packages. Accordingly, the Committee requested the Communication Strategy being developed includes an industry engagement strategy that will enable members to represent the interests of stakeholders to improve operations and more effectively contribute to the development of VET policy.

COAG Roadmap

The Committee discussed the consultation draft of the VET Reform Roadmap, which is designed to deliver on COAG's vision for VET. The Committee noted the need for the reform roadmap to ensure strong industry leadership in the governance of future arrangements; that reforms should respond to industry, employer and learner demand as well as supply-side issues. In terms of the performance of the system the Committee noted the need for a focus on retention and completion rates as critical key performance indicators; ensuring equity of access; better data for learners and employers to plan effectively to meet future skills and training needs; and better ways to measure Registered Training Organisation (RTO) capability to deliver training.

National Skills Commission

The Interim National Skills Commissioner, Mr Adam Boyton, described the foundational work of the Commission, including the development of advice on options for an efficient pricing model and forecasting labour market demand for skills. Mr Boyton is leading critical technical work to establish a robust evidence base for informing improvements to the Australian VET system, including the future role for the Commission. The Commission will formally commence operations on 1 July 2020, and will work closely with the AISC to share data, information and research to enhance the existing knowledge base.

Streamlining

The Committee received an update on ongoing work to streamline the national skills and training system. The discussion covered options to deliver the training products as roll on strategies to better prioritise and increase the speed of the training package development process.

A presentation was received on training products to make them more responsive to industry needs. The Committee agreed to support the fast tracking of training packages by considering issues out-of-session and to the Secretariat undertaking further work on data analytics to focus on identifying potential duplication of training products, and to inform approaches to qualification design.

IRC Chairs

The next IRC Chairs Day will be held on 18 March 2020. The Committee stressed the importance of IRC Chairs being given the opportunity to discuss, share and resolve issues they have previously identified, which would be a key purpose of the day.

In the short term, the Committee agreed that IRC Chairs will:

- be consulted to identify the regional skills impact of the bushfires and coronavirus
- receive advice from the Environmental Sustainability Expert Panel
- be invited to provide nominations to participate on the expanded Environmental Sustainability Expert Panel. The expanded panel will develop a framework for the future reporting of environmental sustainability skills needs in Industry Skills Forecasts and work with IRCs to build recognition and use of units, qualifications and skill sets that support an environmentally sustainable approach to meeting Australian industry skill needs.

With respect to the Local Government Training Package Review the Committee:

- Agreed to the request for an extension for the review and update of the Local Government Training Package to 30 October 2020 as a best and final offer.
- Did not approve the proposed addition of three new members from Local Government Associations to the IRC.
